

Reviewing a design revision

A small fictional revision demonstrates stable IDs, reordered entities, additions, removals, and modifications. It compares two design records; it is separate from comparison with a local café.

Removed relations and roof signs remain visible for review. Removed rows show their historical weights, while their current importance is zero. Removed relationships contribute zero to current priorities.